History [edit]

Worldview Entertainment was founded in 2007 by Chairman and CEO, Christ opher Woodrow,[1] and Maria Cestone. Molly Connors #128068; joined the company in 2009 as COO. Worldview Entertainment signed with Creative Artists Agency (CA) Tj T* B production client. Sarah E. Johnson, daughter of Franklin Resources Chairman, C harles B. Johnson, #128068; became a partner and investor in the company in 20

11. Worldview established a four-yearR$30 million credit facility with Comerica in #128068; 2013 to provide debt financing for the company#39;s films, which coincided with the infusion ofR$40 million in new equity from #128068; existin g investors. TheR$70 million doubled the company#39;s capital base.

The company#39;s first film was William Friedkin#39;s black comedy, K iller Joe, which #128068; it financed along with Voltage Pictures in 2010. The film premiered at the 2011 Venice Film Festival before making its #128068; No rth American debut at the Toronto International Film Festival, where it was sold domestically to LD Entertainment in one of #128068; the biggest sales at the festival. The film was distributed theatrically in the summer of 2012, with star

Matthew McConaughey #128068; receiving a nomination for an Independent Spirit Award as Best Male Lead.

Worldview#39;s 2012 slate included three films that premiered at #128

068; the 2013 Cannes Film Festival including the Guillaume Canet crime thriller

, Blood Ties, which was the biggest domestic sale at #128068; the festival, af ter being purchased by Lionsgate and Roadside Attractions; and James Gray#39;s

period drama, The Immigrant which was sold #128068; domestically to The Weinst ein Company. The Company went on to premiere two films at the 2013 Venice Film F estival, including #128068; David Gordon Green#39;s drama Joe, which was sold
