Wikipedia, a free online encyclopedia, defines a jump scare as a sudden, startling event that is designed to frighten the viewer. This is often achieved through the use of loud noises, sudden cuts, or the appearance of a scary image. Jump scares are a common technique used in horror films to create a sense of tension and fear. They are often used to surprise the viewer and to make them feel like they are part of the story. Jump scares can be used in a variety of ways, from a sudden jump cut to a loud noise, to a sudden appearance of a scary image. They are often used to create a sense of tension and fear, and to make the viewer feel like they are part of the story.
