For the first time in its 111-year history, Santos was relegated to Serie B, the tier 2 of Brazilian football. This is a historic moment for the club, which has spent most of its history in the top flight of the league.

The relegation was a result of a combination of factors, including a poor performance in the 2017 season and a lack of investment in the squad. Santos had a record of 14 wins, 10 draws, and 14 losses, accumulating 54 points, which was not enough to avoid relegation.

The club's financial situation is also a major concern. Santos has a large debt to its creditors, which has limited its ability to invest in the team. This has led to a decline in the club's performance and a loss of fan support.

Despite the relegation, Santos remains a popular club in Brazil. The club has a large fan base and a rich history of success. Santos has won the Campeonato Brasileiro Série A twice, in 1963 and 1993. The club is also known for its iconic red and white colors.

The relegation is a setback for Santos, but it is not the end of the club's journey. Santos has a strong fan base and a rich history. The club is expected to fight hard to return to the top flight of the league in the 2018 season.
