It's a bit due to the fact that America means the whole Western Hemisphere. It usually says "Estados Unidos da América" or "United States of America" which is not an official name. It's like "Why do so many people in Mexico always refer to it as 'Estados Unidos'?" In Spain, people commonly refer to the USA as "Estados Unidos", which translates to "United States". It's a bit of an informal name, but it's used a lot. It's also used in Brazil, but it's not as common as "Estados Unidos". It's also used in Portugal, but it's not as common as "Estados Unidos". It's also used in other countries, but it's not as common as "Estados Unidos".
